THIS IS WHAT WE HAVE BEEN SEEKING!

The Syracuse University Press, 920 Irving Avenue, Syracuse 10, New York, now has available two units of a complete series of books written by special education teachers and supervisors of the Rochester Public Schools for retarded pupils. These two units are Gas Stations and Restaurants and Cafeterias and are designed for a ten-week unit each.

Each unit is developed at three reading levels using the same characters in the same situation. The degree of difficulty varies at each level but the content remains the same, so unity within the group can be maintained. The lowest level is suitable for pupils reading at about the second grade level; the second for those at reading levels of grades three or four; the third for those reading at the level of fourth and fifth grades. Each unit is a combined text and workbook. A teacher's guide is included. Symbols on the cover of each book designate the level.

HOW TO ORDER

Count the number of pupils you have in each group. Order copies of Level One for the lowest, either one or both units by name, one copy for each pupil. Order Level Two for the middle group and Level Three for the highest group. Both boys and girls will enjoy both units. Order any combinations of the above but not in amount less than $5.00 because of billing and handling costs. School discount, 20 per cent. Sample copies are not available. Price per unit (combined text and workbook): Gas Station, 65 cents; Restaurants and Cafeterias, 65 cents.

This is a must. It is, without a doubt, the greatest step ever taken in the preparation of teaching material for retarded children. This is all reimbursable by the State Special Education Program to the limits set forth in the law.
